

The department consists of three main sub divisions:

Numerical Weather Prediction Unit (NWP): Responsible for simulation of Weather Research and Forecasting (WRF) model, forecast verification and evaluation.

Central Analysis and Forecasting Office (CAFO): generates public weather services through the use of synoptic data, radar, satellite and numerical weather prediction (NWP) models.

Kotaka International Meteorological Office (KIAMO): produce aeronautical weather service to the aviation industry.