SUMMARY: Partly cloudy skies are expected to dominate most parts of the country throughout the night with the likelihood of some rainfall activities over few places within the coastal and transition sectors. Northern Ghana will remain mostly clear, with few cloud formation and slightly hazy conditions across the upper regions. As the night progresses into the early morning hours, mist or fog will form over the forest belt and hilly areas with chances of rainfall affecting some coastal areas. Thunderstorms with rain are expected to affect more areas within southern Ghana from late afternoon into the evening hours.
