SUMMARY: This morning, mist or fog patches are expected over the coast, forest, and mountainous areas, while thunderstorms or intermittent rain are anticipated to affect few areas along the coastline, its in-land areas and parts of the northern sector. As the day progresses into the afternoon, sunny conditions with occasional cloud cover will prevail across most parts of the country. However, scattered thunderstorms or rain are likely to develop over parts of the coast, middle, and transition sectors from the late afternoon into the evening hours.
