SUMMARY: Mostly cloudy conditions are expected over most parts of the country this evening, with slight rain likely over some coastal and inland areas tonight and into the morning. Early tomorrow, mist or fog patches may develop over hilly, forest, and coastal areas, reducing visibility. As the day progresses, a mix of sunshine and clouds will prevail in some places, but from the afternoon into the evening, thunderstorms or rain of varying intensity are expected across parts of the middle, transition, and northern sectors.
