SUMMARY: This evening, most parts of Ghana will experience partly cloudy condition. Thunderstorms or rain are expected in a few places across the northern and transition sectors later in the evening and into the night. By early Monday morning, mist or fog is likely to form over the mountainous, forest, and coastal areas, leading to reduced visibility in some locations. Slight to moderate rain is also expected over parts of the forest belt.

NB: Relatively cool night and early morning temperatures are expected across the country.
