Description:

A rainstorm over Togo is expected to continue its propagation to the west to affect areas within Ghana. Oti region and parts of the Volta region are expected to be affected with moderate to heavy rains with gusty winds. These conditions are forecast to drift westward to affect areas within the Bono East region this evening into the night.

Instruction:

Stay indoors if possible, especially during periods of heavy rainfall and strong winds. Secure loose objects outside your home that could be blown away by strong winds. Keep away from trees, power lines, and structures that may be weakened by the rain and wind. Avoid crossing flooded areas, whether walking or driving
