SUMMARY: Cloudy weather condition is expected to dominate most places in the country with the likelihood of rain along some parts of the coastline and parts of the inland this morning. Mist or patches over the mountainous and forest areas thereby reducing visibility along these areas. However, a weak to moderate storm observed at Benin and Nigeria is expected to propagate westwards and affect the eastern portions of our country this morning. As the day progresses, sunny conditions amidst occasional cloudiness are expected for most areas within the country. Thunderstorms are also expected for places within the middle, transition and northern sectors from the afternoon into the evening hours.
