SUMMARY: Misty and foggy weather conditions are expected to form over most places in the south early this morning whereas the north experiences dry and hazy conditions this morning and into the afternoon hours. These conditions are expected to significantly reduce visibility range between 800 meters to 7000 meters. However, sunny weather with varying degrees of temperatures are anticipated for most areas across the country during the afternoon hours with few cases of localised thundery showers expected over the inland areas of the coast into the middle sector from late afternoon into the evening.

NB: Cold night and early morning temperatures are expected over the northern sector.
