SUMMARY: Generally, mostly sunny conditions with occasional cloudiness will prevail across southern Ghana this afternoon. However, from mid-afternoon into the evening hours, localised formation of rain and thunder clouds are likely to affect parts of the coast, inland areas of the coastline and a few places within the middle sector. Meanwhile, northern Ghana and the transition belt will continue to experience dry and hazy weather with a visibility range of 2km to 8km.

NB: Cold night and early morning temperatures are expected over the northern region.
