SUMMARY: This afternoon, sunny conditions amidst periodic cloudiness are expected to dominate the southern part of the country. Formation of thunder and rain clouds later in the day is anticipated to produce thunderstorms or rain for few areas along the coastline, middle and transition sectors from late afternoon into the evening hours. However, dry and hazy conditions will continue to dominate the northern sector throughout the forecast period. There is also the likelihood of thunderstorms or rain to affect parts of the northern sector from this afternoon into the evening.
